23rd Stadler Genetics Symposium

Genome Exploitation: Data Mining

First Announcement

March 31 - April 2, 2003

University of Missouri—Columbia

The general theme for the Symposium is "Genome Exploitation: Data Mining". The theme will be centered around the availability of a massive amount of information about plant and animal Genomes and how this information is going to be utilized to make a better world. The program is designed to bring together scientists in all areas of plant and animal research to discuss their work. I hope it will be a most interesting meeting that will supply much needed information to all struggling to understand the complexities of genome organization and how it can be manipulated.

It is anticipated that the registration fee will be about $170.00 for scientists and $50.00 for graduate students, which will include a copy of the proceedings as published by Plenum Press. The registration fee will be about $130.00 for scientists who do not wish to receive a copy of the proceedings.
